Award Recognises Theta Technologies' Role in Australian Meat Industry Innovation

Brisbane-based innovators Theta Technologies have received further recognition for their innovative quality assurance and regulatory compliance software.

Oakey Abattoir has been declared winner of Australian Meat Industry Processing Innovation Award for 2005 for Electronic QA Data Collection using Theta's flagship product, InformationLeader.

The award recognises creative and practical solutions to meat processing problems and promotes their application across the industry. The award was presented by the CEO of the Australian Meat Processor Corporation, Ross Graham.

Mr Graham says that "Theta have produced the most successful project ever to run in the meat industry in Australia".

AMPC provides processor funding for R&D, marketing and training activities carried out mainly in conjunction with Meat and Livestock Australia.
